FAIR Enough

Dizzy Dean Penalized By Mr. Frick

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK. — Baseball men generally do not keep abreast of affairs outside their own business, but it is hard to believe that anyone in the United States lives so deep in the past as Ford Frick, the president of the National League, which is a combination of business firms.

He was judge, jury and complaining witness in one, and his verdict was that Dean must sign a humiliating apology dictated by Frick himself or turn in his suit. Refusing to sign, Dean was ruled out, and he lost pay until Mr. Frick decided that he had been punished sufficiently. The term was two days, showing how deeply Mr. Frick was hurt by the affront to his dignity and honor.

This occurs in a business which calls itself the American national game and directs its appeal to a public which has pretty generally endorsed collective bargaining and condemned autocratic and brutal treatment of employees by employers.

Of course, these baseball cases are trivial, and a man who gets $25,000 a year for playing a game (See PEGLER, Page 2)

REBELS RENEW BILBAO DRIVE

By The Associated Press

Insurgent artillery pounded Bilbao's "El Gallo" line, the besieged Basque capital's last ditch line of concrete trenches, today.

Sections of the insurgent line of 800 artillery pieces opened the bombardment while unconfined French border reports said a "time bomb" caused the plane crash Thursday that killed insurgent General Emilio Mola and four of his officers.

The rumors, although without any substantiation, were persistent.

Fighting on a new front, at the side door to Madrid, flared into a major battle. Government machine gun crews were said to have beaten back an insurgent counter-offensive of combined infantry, artillery and air forces at La Granja, about 33 miles northwest of the capital.

International tension relaxed after the Spanish government aerial bombardment of Germany's pocket battleship Deutschland and the reich's retaliatory cannonade of Almeria. French and British diplomats pressed anew to isolate the civil war. Their main purpose was to promote German and Italian interest in the recall of foreign troops from Spain.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU

BY BOB BURNS

I remember back when I was a boy, people use'ta talk about the trains bein' slow in Arkansas. I want'ta tell you we've got some of the fastest trains in the world back there now. If you really want a slow train, jest go to New York and ride on one of those commuter trains that take the people out to their homes in the suburbs.

The last time I was back in New York, my Uncle Hod came out to visit me and I took him on one of those commuter trains. The train wouldn't no more than get under way then it would stop again to let some people off at another settlement.

Uncle Hod started to fume and fret about the train bein' so slow and not gettin' any place when one of the commuters sittin' behind leaned over and tapped him on the shoulder and says "What are you kickin' about, Brother, I've been ridin' this train day in and day out for the past six years." Uncle Hod looked at him and says "Where in the world did you get on—you must'a got on way back there!" (Copyright, 1937)

Pickets Banned in Ohio; Evacuation Of Plant Ordered

By The Associated Press

An injunction against strike pickets in Warren, O., and a mayoral order for evacuation of Republic works in Chicago were top developments today in the walkout of the steel workers, now 10 days old.

An Ohio common pleas court order directed the strikers to desist from interfering with free access to the Republic Steel corporation's plant.

Earlier, strike leaders had declared they would "no longer permit their lines to be broken" after a boxcar loaded with food was delivered to the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company plant at Youngstown, O.

Mayor Gives Order

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago gave the Republic company 48 hours to remove the men who have kept its plant in operation since the walkout started. The mayor said housing of the men in the plant violated city building and health codes.

Strike chiefs hailed the mayor's order as a victory for the Steel Workers Organizing committee. The delivery of the food car to the Youngstown plant was quickly followed by a mobilization of deputies and police to prevent trouble. The Sheet & Tube company heretofore has asserted it would not attempt operations as a result of the strike which has made more than 70,000 steel workers unemployed by it, the Republic and Inland company idle.

Fear Lumberjack Riot
In the strike of Michigan timber workers, state police arrested two lumberjack leaders at Munising and officers armed with riot guns and tear gas guarded Alger county courthouse against a threatened attack by strikers who have demanded assurance their families would be given relief while their walkout was in progress. Other state police were on guard against a threat of strikers to "take the town apart" at Newberry. Yesterday townspeople drove off a band of 100 strikers there.

Auto union members affiliated with the CIO assembled for mass meetings near the Ford Motor Company's Rouge plant in Detroit after disclosures that the "Ford Brotherhood of America" was being formed as a rival of their union.

Some employees claimed 95 per cent of the workers at the plant signed "brotherhood" membership cards.

Auto "Sit-Downs" End
Production was scheduled to be resumed Monday in six Michigan motor plants—of the Chrysler, General Motors and Packard companies—where operations were curtailed by sit-downs and "slow downs." A conference sought to settle a similar outbreak at the Lansing Fisher body factory.

Amelia Remains At Fortaleza
FORTALEZA, Brazil. (AP) — Earhart postponed her takeoff here today to save her big round-the-world monoplane inspected.

She probably will remain over at least until tomorrow at this northeast Brazil port, 287 miles from Natal.

Miss Earhart came down here yesterday on a flight from Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana.

PARADE, POLO GAME START PROGRAM

Best in Southland On Program For Affair At Bowl Here

Aristocracy of the horse world went on parade here today.

Following a parade and matinee performance this afternoon, silver-mounted saddles will sparkle under the lights of the municipal bowl tonight as the Santa Ana unit of the Assistance League of Southern California presents its benefit horse show, with more than 300 entries from all parts of Southern California contesting for $2 prizes.

Led by the NYA band, entries in the show paraded through downtown streets early this afternoon as a prelude to the afternoon performance, which included a polo game, exhibition of the famous Stinson Belgian draft horses, Winnie and Jeri Knowlton and their performing stallions, and Mrs. James Irvine's stock horses.

Proceeds from ticket sales will go to finance a children's bed at St. Joseph's hospital.

Orange county's entry in the Salinas rodeo "sweetheart" contest will be named at tonight's show, following judging of riding of the entries.

Other attractions tonight are the Stinson Belgians, Knowlton stallions, drill competition between Lancerettes and Boot and Spur clubs, Long Beach girls' team, and competition for the $100 stake given by Mrs. Irvine for stock horses. Orange county's El Rodeo riding club, winner of first place in the recent San Francisco Golden Gate Bridge fiesta, also will appear.

Prizes to be awarded include cups, plaques, ribbons and merchandise awards. Mrs. Howard Timmons, treasurer of the Assistance group here, is general chairman of the show. Eddie Marble, former radio announcer and producer, is master of ceremonies, and ringmasters include Hubert Bown, Ed Hall, George McConnell and Howard Timmons.

CAVE-IN FATAL TO 2 MINERS

ELY, Minn. (AP) — John Kavach, jr., today identified as that of his father the body of one of two miners recovered from the Pioneer "A" mine here where they were buried by a cave-in 1300 feet underground last night.

Mine officials previously announced the body was that of Tony Kramer. A fresh crew of rescue workers continued efforts to reach Kramer's body after hope of finding him alive was given up.

Chemistry Cops Citrus Culls

And now specific gravity comes to the aid of the citrus industry! They're using specific gravity to help separate frozen fruit from good fruit, and it is claimed that this new method is faster and more accurate than the fluoroscope.

Two Orange county men have devised the method of separating frozen from good fruit, and have their machine on display at the Fullerton Tractor and Equipment company offices.

The men are T. Y. Brent, Yorba Linda, industrial chemist, who worked out the formula of a solution in which the oranges and lemons are immersed, and Oswald C. Ulrich, Anaheim, who built the machine.

What happens when the special solution is dumped into the water separating machine is an increase in the specific gravity of the water. This makes the frozen fruit ride higher on the water as it skids along. It also pops to the surface of the water tanks faster, it is claimed.

Packing houses in the county now are using a combination of the water separator and fluoroscope method of grading citrus fruit. In most cases the fruit is sent through the water separator, bad fruit floating along the top. The fruit that floats is then put through the fluoroscopes, which makes their interiors visible.

The advantages claimed for the new solution are that fruit can be separated easier, faster and more accurately. In tests already made satisfactory results were reported, and the reason for the success being that the human element is eliminated, as the machine is entirely automatic.

Tests are being continued at the Fullerton headquarters, and any packing house manager wishing to bring his own fruit and make his own tests was invited to do so.

S. A. HOLDS STATE MARK FOR LOWEST FIRE LOSS

Rockefeller Will, Filed; Disposes of $25,000,000 Estate

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP) — John D. Rockefeller's will, disposing of an estate estimated to be worth $25,000,000, was filed today in surrogate's court, Westchester county. The will was dated June 2, 1925, and appended to it were three codicils. These were dated May 14, 1930, Nov. 1, 1932, and Oct. 3, 1934, and the last made a radical change in the disposition of the estate.

Under the original will, the capitalist and philanthropist who died May 23 at his Orangetown, Fla., home, after disposing of his personal and household effects, left the residuary estate, in equal shares to the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial and his son, John D. Rockefeller, jr.

The first two codicils made no special changes in the will. By the final codicil, however, the entire residuary estate is left to trustees during the life of Rockefeller's granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas, of Lakewood, N. J.

SCHOOL VOTE IS PUZZLE

Candidates for Board Tied at Paularino; Others Elected

Interest in yesterday's county-wide school elections today centered on the Paularino elementary district, where two men are tied for a place on the board, County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson scratching his head as to what steps to take to decide who is elected.

Nate Hughes, incumbent, and L. E. Vetter each received 12 votes from Paularino residents. Adkinson must decide some means of breaking the tie and naming a board member.

Another school race which drew wide interest was in the Fullerton union district, where a woman will occupy a place on the board for the second time in the school's history. Mrs. Sidney Chapman of Yorba Linda defeated Fred Johnson, incumbent, also of Yorba Linda, while John W. Schiller of Buena Park, incumbent, also was elected. Mrs. Chapman received 552 votes, Johnson 471 and Schiller 677.

At Brea-Olinda High school, Ed Curtis was re-elected, and Mrs. C. (See ELECTION, Page 2)

RANKS THIRD FOR ENTIRE NATION

Underwriters' Report Is Made Public Today By Local Chief

Lowest in the state. And third lowest in the nation!

That's the record for per capita fire loss Santa Ana set in the year 1936.

Figures received by Fire Chief John Luxembourget today form a national survey made by the committee of statistics and origin of fires of the National Board of Fire Underwriters established Santa Ana's enviable record.

Best In The Class
Santa Ana was classed with cities with a population of 20,000 or more in the tabulations. In this class Santa Ana had the lowest fire loss per capita in the state of California and third lowest in the nation.

Santa Ana's loss per capita in 1936 was 11 cents. There were but two cities in the nation out of 467 in the class that bettered Santa Ana. These were Brownsville, Texas, with population of 26,000 and area of six square miles and a fire loss of eight cents per capita, and Laredo, Texas, with a population of 34,000 and an area of 14 square miles, with a fire loss of five cents per capita.

Bakersfield High
Santa Ana has an area of 11 square miles and a population of 35,000. The fire loss in this city has been consistently low over a period of years. The financial loss from fires here last year was but $17,000 and the year before $8,000. Santa Ana's low of 11 cents per capita was compared with the two high cities of the state. Bakersfield, with a population of 36,000, had a fire loss of $5.24 per capita, and Los Angeles, with a population of 25,000, had a loss of $6.77 per capita.

WALLY PUTS ON HOUSEDRESS

NOETSCH, Austria. (AP) — The Duchess of Windsor, put on simple figured housedress and toured the "haunted" rooms of Wasser-Leonberg castle today with a critical eye.

As she poked about this storied place that is her honeymoon home, a host of special muck-racks, dust-gatherers all, went promptly out. She assigned them to an exile in the lofty attics on just one look.

But on the whole she seemed to like the place her husband picked out.

The duke and the duchess, late in arriving last night, were late in getting up. Then Wallis, in her housedress, received the housekeeper, talked about meals, and started her all-seeing tour of inspection.

Here are some of the things she banished to attic oblivion: one set of deer horns; one set of elephant tusks; a hippopotamus head; several stuffed pheasants.

He's Deserted

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, above, and his old age pension organization was left in the lurch today by the mass resignation of 12 of his chief aides, including Gilmour Young, and the editor of the Townsend Weekly.

The 12 explained they resigned because their leader was publicly antagonistic to President Roosevelt and his administration.

TYPEWRITER IS DELAYED

Appeal Barks Buying Of Machine Ordered By Auditor

Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon won't have to deliver an L. C. Smith typewriter to County Auditor W. T. Lambert by next Tuesday, as ordered in a superior court writ.

And as a result today Lambert began worrying about what he is going to do with approximately 1500 new forms which the state department of finance delivered today for use in making up the county's annual budget.

Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames yesterday stayed the writ issued by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, ordering delivery of the typewriter, when B. Z. McKinney, special counsel hired by the board of supervisors to defend Fenelon, filed notice of appeal.

Who's going to pay for the board of supervisors' appeal of the county typewriter purchase decision?

Lambert, whose requisition for an L. C. Smith typewriter started the scrap, had at least a partial answer.

The county won't pay for it if Lambert has his way.

Lambert said he expects to hold up any warrant for payment of McKinney, special counsel hired by the board of supervisors to represent Fenelon in the court hearing.

The auditor pointed out that apparently no one has officially ordered the appeal that was filed yesterday. Fenelon himself, although he is defendant in the action, didn't know definitely that there was to be an appeal until after it was filed.

And the board of supervisors has taken no official action on the matter.

All the new forms must be filled out soon and sent to department heads for more filling out. And all are so wide that they require big typewriters with 18-inch carriages. It was such a typewriter that Lambert ordered.

Fenelon refused to buy Lambert a Smith typewriter but offered to get any other make, stating that the board's policy did not allow officers to specify the make.

SCORE LOOSE TONGUE OF LEADER

Gilmour Young, Others Criticize Attacks On President

CHICAGO. (AP) — Twelve officials of the Townsend national organization resigned today because of "repeated public utterances attacking the President and his administration" which they attributed to Dr. Francis E. Townsend, leader of the old age pension movement.

The officials, who criticized Dr. Townsend's attacks "on legislation not associated with the aims of the organization" in a formal statement, were:

Gilmour Young, national secretary-treasurer; Gilman Beeler, director of the Townsend National Legion; Harry B. Presson, manager of the Townsend club department; Jeanne E. Sweeney, editor of the Townsend weekly women's page; J. H. Hall, auditor of the Weekly and of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc.; Arthur L. Johnson, chairman of the Washington legislative committee; J. W. Brinton, vice president and general manager; T. W. Hughes, manager of the educational department; Walter D. Hickman, associate editor of the Weekly; W. L. Stahl, editor of the Townsend Weekly; Willis Owen, Townsend plan business analyst, and P. M. McEvoy, Washington correspondent.

The mass resignations, Brinton said, were addressed to Dr. Townsend and effective today. He said the resignations had been accepted "verbally."

A statement, released by Brinton, said: "We feel that our services are of no value to those who contribute to our salaries in view of your repeated public utterances in the press and on the platform attacking the President."

TO REORGANIZE ASSOCIATED

Reorganization of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county under a different name, as being planned, it was learned today.

Representatives of the county organization appeared before directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to seek cooperation of the local chamber in the reorganization. The delegation included President John W. Crill, Secretary Harry M. May and Dr. C. G. Huston, former president.

It was pointed out that it is the desire to reorganize the county group to permit participation in activities by smaller communities which have organizations similar to chambers of commerce but which go by other names.

Directors of the local chamber expressed a willingness to cooperate in the reorganization plans.

Local Factory Spends $300,000

Annual expenditures amounting to $300,000 are made in this vicinity by the Food Machinery company, with a plant located in southeastern Santa Ana.

This information was contained in a report made to directors of the chamber of commerce by Hale Paxton, chairman of the industrial committee, yesterday afternoon.

Paxton said the annual payroll alone for more than 200 employees amounts to $250,000 a year. Wages have been raised and the number of employees increased from 95 to more than 200.

The company has made a $17,000 improvement, and now is spending $11,000 more on an addition to the plant.

CHAMBER BACKS UP MERCHANTS IN FIGHT ON PARKING METERS

REPORT SAYS OPPOSITION GROWING

Merchants of the city still don't like parking meters.

This fact was emphasized yesterday afternoon when directors of the chamber of commerce, urged on by prominent merchants, endorsed and supported the action of the detail division of the chamber opposing meters.

The retail division had transmitted a report to the city council, which covered a survey of about 200 downtown merchants, more than two-thirds of whom were opposed to parking meters.

At the meeting yesterday directors expressed the opinion that the percentage of merchants against the meters had increased since the survey was made, and that many who had no strong opinions on the matter one way or another now are definitely against them.

Officials of the chamber said proprietors of many prominent stores urged the chamber directors to do their very best to prevent the installation of auto parking meters.

The directors appointed W. F. Croddy and Harry Hanson to contact members of the city council and inform them of the action taken by the chamber directorate. This will be done by Monday.

The feeling was expressed that parking meters would be a menace to business. Reports were current this week that the city council would authorize installation of 300 parking meters at its meeting Monday. However, it is not believed that this will be done.

Merchants here were perturbed over a report from Taft, where customers have boycotted stores because parking meters have been installed and where business has fallen off rapidly.

does not make a very tragic martyr even when it is imposed upon. And Dean is even less pathetic, because he recently was accused of throwing his hard one dead at the skulls of the hitters in a game between the Cardinals and the Giants. A few days later, in the other major league, Mickey Cochrane was beamed accidentally and taken to a hospital with a broken head, and the resentment against Dean increased.

THE REAL COMPLAINT

However, Mr. Frick did not punish Dizzy for conduct which might have been fatal. The suspension was based on reports that Dizzy publicly described Mr. Frick as a crook.

Now, if Mr. Frick can prove that Dizzy called him a crook and prove that he is not, which shouldn't be difficult, he can find his remedy in the regular courts.

But, instead, he took the old-fashioned baseball short cut and tried the case himself. The result is a much worse affront to justice and public sentiment than Dizzy offered when he threw his hard one at the Giants—if he did.

As to character, Dizzy has his virtues and his faults. Obstreperous he is, to be sure, boastful, erratic and a poor sportsman in matters. But he is or has been a great pitcher; he has personally earned vast amounts of money for his employers; he has worked overtime at the risk of killing his arm and losing his livelihood, and he was once knocked flat by a thrown ball while serving as pinch-runner in a worst series. In this role he was a volunteer, and the service in which he was hurt was above and beyond the call of a pitcher's duty.

Taking him as he is, Dizzy is more deserving of public sympathy than his employers, who have been known to blacklist men for strictly temperamental reasons and drive them out of their profession by silent agreement.

CANT BARGAIN

He works under a system of employment which only denies the right of collective bargaining, but one man has signed his first papers, thereafter allows him no right to bargain at all. Under the terms of the standard baseball contract the player must work for any employer who buys him from the employer's league, waive his right to a fair, impartial trial in cases involving his money, as Mr. Frick's sentence shows.

He is subject to house rules and regulations controlling his conduct in his leisure time, and, theoretically at least, he has no more human rights than the most degraded share cropper. Actually, of course, he fares pretty well but only by the generosity of his owners.

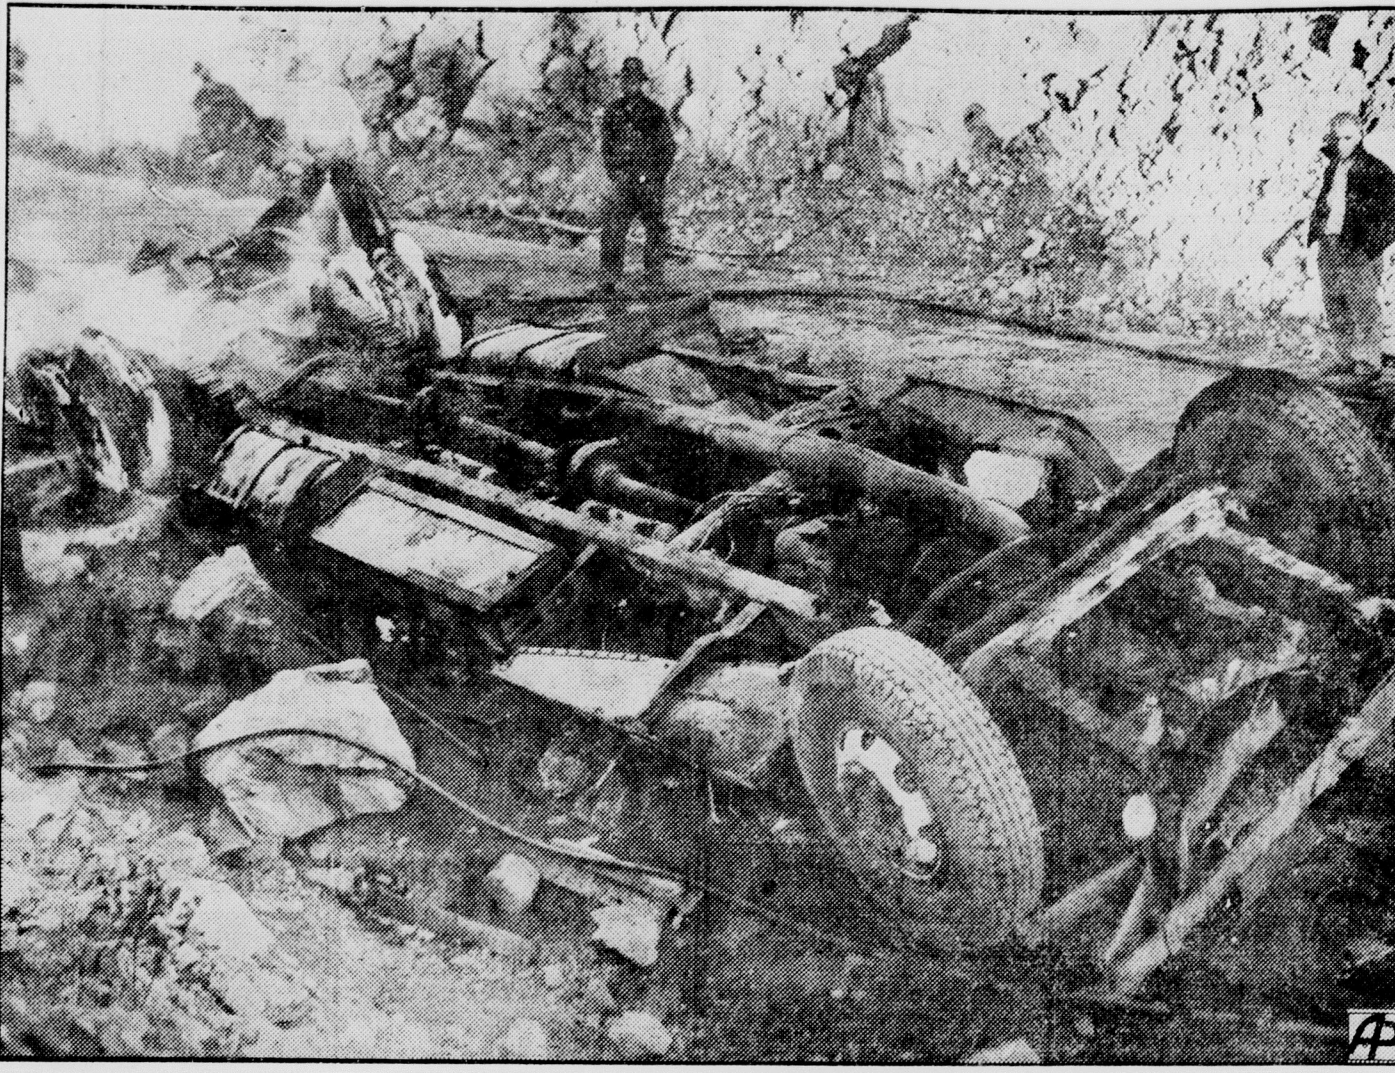

The terms of employment in professional baseball are such that you would think Mr. Frick, as head of the National league, would be afraid to flout public sentiment as he has done in this case. But, perhaps, being a baseball man, Mr. Frick doesn't realize what goes on in labor and industry these days.

Apparently they don't get around much intellectually outside their own business.

For purposes of propaganda, organized baseball presents a tempting opportunity to organized labor. A players' union died at birth some years ago, but today a players' union could enlist the support of organized labor and astonish Mr. Frick and the chair store proprietors with picket lines and a terrible boycott.

Mr. Frick ought to read the papers.

Burned Wreckage of Bus in Which Santa Ana Man Died

CITRUS JUICE FUTURE TOLD

Manufacture of citrus juices and concentrates eventually will result in stabilizing growers' returns and values of orchard land, in the opinion of H. L. Manker, manager of the Treasewick Citrus Products company plant here. He outlined his views yesterday afternoon to the Santa Ana Realty board.

Canning eventually will completely balance any overproduction on shipped fruit, Manker said, and has done much already to take care of the surplus.

California's rise to the front as a canner of citrus juices was described by the speaker, who attributed the consistent better quality of California fruit to its rise over Florida production.

The future of citrus in California will be linked closely with canning, he said, remarking that 85 per cent of valencias are consumed in juice form even when they are shipped in whole form.

Pure canned juice so far is a minor product, he said. A concentrate used for orangeade by dairy companies is the biggest in volume so far.

The reality board will not meet next Friday, it was announced by President Earl B. Hawks, because of the southern regional conference meeting in Los Angeles the same day. Approximately five members of the local group plan to attend.

POLIO NURSE TO GO HOME

Miss Jean Curtis, one of the county nurses crippled with infantile paralysis, yesterday was transferred at her own request from the county hospital to her own home in San Diego.

Purchasing Agent Eugene Fennell, who is in charge of the county compensation insurance fund, reported that arrangements have been made to provide Miss Curtis with maintenance, a nurse and medical care at the home of her parents.

The change was made, she said, because Miss Curtis said she felt she would be happier and make more progress with a change of surroundings. A nurse provided by the county will live in the home to attend to her care.

The prospect of going to her own home, made known to Miss Curtis a week ago, has already brought an improvement in the nurse's condition, it was reported.

Experts to Test Graiewski Sanity

Dr. Forrest Van Meter and Dr. Aaron Rosanoff, prominent psychiatrists, were appointed by Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames yesterday to test the sanity of Edmund Graiewski, Santa Ana electrician.

Graiewski, who was returned from Chicago to face a fictitious check charge, pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity. His trial was set for July 6.

Orrin H. Clark today started action in superior court here to collect $1,045.87 he declares is due from the National Guaranty Life Insurance company for the death of Robert F. Clark, Fullerton.

Clark said Robert Clark died April 4, but that the insurance company refused to pay on the policy insuring his life.

ing the President and his administration, whose support and good will we must have if we are to secure the enactment of the general welfare act during the next four years.

As you already know, we are not in accord with your activity in using money contributed to you in the Townsend organization to carry on a fight against legislation proposed by the President which has no bearing on the Townsend plan.

"Fight on Court Bill"

Brinton said eight officials of the movement had protested Dr. Townsend's public opposition to President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization plan May 19. He said the elderly physician later repudiated his promise to halt his public criticisms.

Dr. Townsend visited his offices for a conference with persons Brinton described as those likely to assume management. He declined to comment immediately.

LEGISLATIVE CHAIRMAN TELLS WHY HE RESIGNED

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Arthur L. Johnson, chairman of the Townsend plan legislative committee, said today Dr. Francis E. Townsend had described the movement's advocacy of $200-a-month old age pensions as akin to "holding a whiff of straw tied on a stick in front of a cow's nose to get the cow to follow you."

Johnson attributed this statement to Dr. Townsend in a letter of resignation to the old age pension leader which he made public. He said Townsend made the statement at a meeting Thursday of the general welfare act steering committee.

Giving his reasons why "It is impossible for me to continue legislative work on the bill as your representative," Johnson said he considered the $200 per month pension of Townsend's program "the only means of industrial recovery before the nation."

Other reasons Johnson gave for resigning included Townsend's threat to "fight the congressman who has taken the lead in the battle for enactment of the general welfare act into law if he does not conform to your views on the supreme court issue."

Bassett will go as far as Denver, Colo., with the Elks' double quartet, and will take part in the annual Elks convention to be held there July 12-15. He will then proceed to New York, where he will have an audition for a broadcast over a national network.

Jean Baldwin, Newport Beach, another singer, placed second. She will have a week's engagement at a Los Angeles theater as her prize. These two contestants won over a field of more than 325 contestants that competed for 28 weeks.

Dr. Ross, Mrs. Cornelius Marry

Dr. Garland C. Ross and Mrs. Kate Munger Cornelius drove to Las Vegas, Nev., Thursday and were married in a quiet ceremony at the Baptist parsonage.

Both bride and bridegroom are well known in Santa Ana, where they have lived since childhood. The latter is a prominent dentist of the city. They at home at 513 South Birch street.

Gets Probation In Switch Case

Found guilty by a justice court jury of tampering with railroad equipment by opening a Santa Fe switch, R. N. Griego was "free today on two years' probation."

Justice Kenneth Morrison suspended a six-month jail sentence yesterday, after determining Griego's record was good and finding he had spent 26 days in jail awaiting trial.

The card club of Torosa Rebekah sewing circle will meet for lunch Tuesday at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Clara Hillyard, 1114 Freeman street.

MORE ABOUT TOWNSEND

Investigations went forward in Nebraska and northern California today into two accidents which claimed the lives of three Santa Ana men and seriously injured the wives of two of them.

Authorities in Redding, Calif., renewed their search for a woman and child reported aboard a passenger bus which carried at least seven persons to their death in a crash and fire yesterday.

The possible death toll was again set at nine after R. C. Bennett, driver of another bus, declared positively that the woman and child were aboard the ill-fated stage when it left Redding for the north yesterday.

Bennett, from whose bus the northbound passengers were transferred, said he placed the woman and child on the other stage. He said he tickled the child, a girl about a year old, under the chin.

Among the victims was believed to be Fred C. Farrer, former Santa Ana resident and brother of Mrs. J. B. Tucker. Farrer was returning to his work in Oregon after a visit here, at the time of the tragedy. A billfold bearing his name and address here was found in the twisted wreckage.

In Sidney, Neb., Mrs. Peter McIntosh and Mrs. Charles Hawthorne were in a serious condition but reported likely to recover from injuries received in an accident yesterday in which their husbands were fatally injured.

Hawthorne was killed almost instantly and McIntosh died a few hours later in a hospital after their car jumped a ditch and fence and overturned after a tire apparently blew out yesterday morning.

The McIntoshes, who lived at 1115 North Broadway, and the Hawthornes, 1033 West Eighth street, had left Santa Ana Tuesday for trials in Nebraska and Lansing, Mich.

BASSETT WINS HAAN CONTEST

G. Willard Bassett, tenor, winner of O. R. Haan's amateur contest held at Walter's theater, will have a trip to New York City as his prize, it was revealed by Haan today.

Bassett will go as far as Denver, Colo., with the Elks' double quartet, and will take part in the annual Elks convention to be held there July 12-15. He will then proceed to New York, where he will have an audition for a broadcast over a national network.

Local Bruins Aid Homecoming Event

Orange County Bruin club is assisting in plans of the University of California at Los Angeles for its fifth annual academic homecoming today. Many students in the county formerly of U. C. L. A., are expected to attend.

Dr. Karl Meyer, director of the state university's William Hooper foundation, will deliver the main address at 8:30 tonight. His address will be "Why Epidemics."

Officers of the Orange County Bruin club who have helped in general preparations are Don S. Danner of Orange, president, Mrs. Osborne H. Holmes, Santa Ana, vice president, and Miss Helen Knox, Santa Ana, secretary.

RADIO VANISHES

Theft of a radio from the home of T. Inokuchi, Costa Mesa, was being investigated by sheriff's officers today.

AMATEURS WILL SEEK HONORS

An amateur contest, with a one-week's engagement at a Los Angeles theater as first prize, will be staged Monday and Tuesday nights under auspices of the Forty and Eight and the Santa Ana Legion Drum corps.

The vaudeville acts will be presented as a part of the charity circuit and amateur show sponsored by these groups. Wednesday winners in the elimination acts will compete for the grand prize.

A series of elimination contests throughout the county was conducted to name the contestants for next week's performances.

On Monday night the following amateurs will be on the program: Evelyn Sutton, Melva Eubank, Winsome Beatty, Frank Childress, Maxine Hoffman, Floyd Theuret, Don Truax, Lolla Buell, Reginald C. Astala, Harold Jesse, Edith Manderschied and Jean Baldwin.

Tuesday night's program will include Ethlyn and Herman Kinney, Frances Berkeley Arthur and Alfred Castillo, Merly and Louisa Heinz, Andy Sorsable and partner, Betty Courtney, Mary Katherine Harper and Harold Root, Betty Haynes, Beverly Short and Mary Ann McDougal.

Tubbs to Attend State Conference

Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs will leave tomorrow for Eureka, to attend the annual meeting of the California Agricultural Commissioners' association.

The meeting is called by the state director of agriculture and attendance of county commissioners is required by the state director.

Tubbs returned yesterday from Phoenix, Ariz., where he attended a western states conference on standardization and quarantine.

RELIEF CORPS PARTY

Sedgewick Women's Relief corps will have a social party after its regular meeting at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the M. W. A. hall.

STAR TO MEET

Hermosa chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will meet Monday at 8 p. m. at the Masonic temple for memorial services.

MORE ABOUT ELECTION

Glenn Curtis was named a new member of the board. In the Placentia unified district, Mrs. Sula D. Abbott and George Holditch were named new members, with the two previous trustees, Mrs. Hermine B. Lowe and Buell V. Beard retiring because of a district division in January.

Two members were re-elected to the high school board in Anaheim, while for Newport Harbor 494 votes and Benson 309. At Orange Carl Glasbrenner and Joseph Hancock were elected to the high school board without opposition.

At Huntington Beach High school, Francis E. Penhall and D. D. Lawhead were elected to the board, while for Newport Harbor High, Judge D. J. Dodge and F. A. Stowell were re-elected.

Walter E. Pollard was re-elected to the Tustin High school board without opposition. In Garden Grove E. M. Dozier also was named without opposition.

At San Juan Capistrano, on district, Judge Fred S. Warner of San Clemente and Aaron Buchheim of Capistrano were re-elected.

Unofficial results of elementary elections follow: Centralia, E. L. Davis elected over R. D. Temple; Villa Park, Harold B. Lee, unopposed; Serra, Isaac Purdy; Costa Mesa, H. M. Aldrich and A. L. Pinkley elected over Mrs. Marion Hinkley; Diamond, J. I. Barber elected over A. E. Selvidge; Cypress, M. E. Penhall elected over Steve Luther; Huntington Beach, L. H. ## HUGE RELIEF JOB AHEAD FOR SNOW

Signing of relief bills 1936 and 1879 by Governor Merriam will place County Welfare Director Jack Snow in charge of relief projects for Orange county costing more than $100,000 monthly.

Senator Harry C. Westover believes the governor will sign both the bills, thus placing Snow in complete charge of state unemployment relief as well as his own county-state set-up. This will have no effect on the WPA. At present Snow administers relief for aged, blind and children under terms of existing legislation.

When this money is administered by the counties, the state will see that unemployed are properly taken care of, as state money is being spent, and it is expected that federal pressure will be felt as WPA is at present dependent on SRA for certification of eligibility for the persons now on WPA rolls. WPA does not maintain an investigating department, but relies on SRA to handle this angle.

At present the county is spending more than $67,000 per month for old age security, state aid for the blind and state aid for children. When the new measures take effect they will provide for consolidation of SRA and the county body, thus shifting expenses of more than $30,000 to the county administrator.

The county case load, though stable as compared to the fluctuating SRA unemployment set-up, is rising steadily in the face of new old-age relief measures.

Townsend News, Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

H. W. Larsen, publicity program committee member of Orange club No. 1 telephoned the writer that the co-author, H. G. Wilcox, with Arthur L. Johnson of the general welfare act, will be the speaker at this club's meeting Monday night, at 6:15. The membership will gather in the Townsend club building, 149 South Glassell street, for ice cream, pie, cake and coffee. At 7:30 the business session will be held when the speaker will be presented. The co-author of the Townsend bill has not yet been in Santa Ana and as it is anticipated that a number from here will go to Orange to hear him Monday night. The public will be welcome, said Larsen. President J. A. Green will preside.

Santa Ana folks won't find it necessary to go to Orange to get coffee and cake as Santa Ana club No. 2 will serve both, beginning at 6:30 p. m. in Santa Ana Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street, Monday evening. The refreshments will be free, but a silver offering will later be taken. President P. R. Long announces that at 7:30 o'clock he will conduct a business session when the chief order of business will be the selection of a delegate to the 19th district Townsend convention, to be held in Riverside at 1 p. m. Saturday, June 26. This club already has selected President Long to go to Washington, D. C., to the national Townsend convention July 21 to 25.

Once again this column reminds all Townsend club officers of the county that at 7:30 o'clock to-night in Santa Ana Townsend hall will occur the monthly meeting of the county-wide association of officers of Townsend clubs. President W. A. Zimmerman announces that on the program will be the appointment of a nominating committee to bring in names to both the national and district forthcoming conventions. Every Townsend club officer and all Townsend speakers are urged to be present.

C. H. Scott, 610 West Third street, member of Santa Ana club No. 3, was in Townsend headquarters the other day bemoaning the fact that his Townsend Weekly hadn't come this week, and that he was greatly disappointed. The writer couldn't help thinking how much the folks are missing who don't get the Townsend Weekly regularly. Everybody feels just like this party did when they miss their copy of the weekly. The last few issues of the paper have been chock full of optimism and good news.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Allred, route 1, box 137, on Florida street out of Huntington Beach and members of the club there, were visitors last Saturday at the bazaar. The club now meets on Tuesday evenings in Memorial hall. On Memorial day the club held a special mass meeting with Col. Ralph D. Hensler as the speaker. Other visitors from this club to the bazaar included A. D. Marshall, Mr. Mollica and Robert Hensner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Combra of the Los Alamitos club were on hand last day of the bazaar. They claimed to be the oldest couple there. Combra will be 81 next October and his wife was 73 last March. Was there any other married couple whose combined ages exceeded those of this couple? If so, write in your claims to the writer, telling your names and dates of birth.

Mrs. E. G. Frank of the Fontana club No. 1 of which William Dingley is president, tells the writer that the club's active membership is 150. Mrs. Frank is in Santa Ana taking care of Mrs. Dan Adams who is recuperating from a long illness. She was at the bazaar last Saturday and told the writer she knows of no newspaper anywhere that gives the Townsend news and views like it is done in The Journal. She thought it wonderful that a newspaper give the Townsends such consideration.

While the writer was gathering facts concerning the bazaar he did not forget certain of the youngsters who performed efficiently in the sale of candies and other articles. The writer loves young folks who are sweet and lovable because of being well behaved and yet full of youthful energy. The following boys and girls (mostly girls) deserve mention because they fulfilled this description and because they were really helpful in selling lots of candy, etc.: Dorothy Tubbs and Dan Jerome, Jr., who

WOMEN FIGHT LIQUOR USE IN PARK

Church Group to Ask County Supervisors For Action

A determined drive to chase John Barleycorn out of Irvine park was launched today by infuriated church women of Orange county.

That mythical figure of the liquor evil was scored soundly by the church women at a meeting of the Orange County Federated Church Women yesterday afternoon in the Orange Christian church.

To File Protest
They passed a resolution unanimously, protesting the "uncurbed use of liquor" in the county park. They will seek the cooperation of the board of supervisors in their new campaign to stamp out the liquor evil at the recreational center.

A protest will be carried to the board of supervisors by a committee comprised of Mrs. W. A. Settle, Mrs. Emma Courtney and Miss Emma Corson.

When the church women had disposed temporarily of the park liquor problem, they centered their attention on the theme of what, which was "Africa, and What the Churches Are Doing There."

Work Outlined
Mrs. R. W. Jones led in devotions. Work of the various denominations in Africa was outlined by Mrs. Rebecca Pope, Christian church; Mrs. Arthur T. Hobson, Methodist church; Mrs. Anna Barnett, Friends church; Mrs. W. A. Settle and Mrs. R. W. Jones, Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Idabel Durgan, county health nurse, was a special luncheon guest.

RILEY TO AID FLOOD PLAN

Harry D. Riley, Orange county supervisor, and other members of the conservation committee of the state supervisors' association, will meet with Gov. Frank P. Merriam June 14 in Sacramento, it was announced today.

Chairman Herbert C. Legg of the Los Angeles board of supervisors, who is chairman of the state committee, said the group will make plans for various water projects in the entire state, which when assembled will be submitted to federal authorities.

Intent of the group is to present a coordinated program that the maximum of federal aid can be granted for California flood control and water conservation programs.

In addition to Orange county's major flood control program, now nearing the time for calling a $5,000,000 bond issue, a number of other projects for this county are under consideration.

One is a cooperative program with Los Angeles county for clearing work and flood control on Coyote creek, which flows in both Los Angeles and Orange counties.

Farm Heads To Save on Lunches

Farm bureau directors are going to save on lunch money once a month. They'll be fed by the bureau's home department from the new kitchen at bureau headquarters, preceding separate sessions of the home department and board of directors.

Thursday's meeting, which launched the lunch program, featured reports of farm center garden parties during May, according to Mrs. T. W. Clark, home department chairman. Miss Frances Liles, home demonstration agent, reported on plans for a four-county woman's camp at Camp Bethel near Claremont from June 27 to July 1. A number of Orange county women are expected to attend.

Ex-Santa Ana Resident Dies

Mrs. M. E. Millings, 109 Oak street, has received word of the death of her sister, Mrs. C. B. Simpson, a former Santa Ana resident, in Vancouver, B. C., where the latter had made her home for the past few years.

She is survived by two sons, Charles and George Simpson, and a daughter, Dolly Simpson, all of Vancouver, and by her sister, a cousin, Alexander Humbro, and a nephew, Jack Millings, of Santa Ana, and another nephew, Leo Millings of Anaheim.

Mrs. Simpson lived in Santa Ana for many years, her husband passing away during their residence here.

both are grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Hendrie of 1110 West Washington street, Santa Ana; Billy Jo Trotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Trotter of La Habra; Shirley Wright, daughter of George and Lucile Wright of Costa Mesa. Mr. and Mrs. Wright are lino-type operators in The Journal office, and Shirley is also the granddaughter of District Manager J. H. Walsh and wife; Dorothy Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Marling of Yorba Linda, and Geraldine Davis, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kendall, 1059 West Third street, Santa Ana, who is visiting here from Oakland. There also were one or two very sweet little girls whose names the writer did not get. He is sorry. These young folks were all from 11 to 14 years of age.

Security Card Proves Valuable

E. E. Chilcote's social security card did him some good yesterday, and he didn't have to wait until he was 65, either.

Chilcote, who lives at 216 Stanford street, was informed by police that Laguna officers had found a set of work clothes carrying his number and name. He said he would call for the clothes and the card.

SIXTY YOUNG DANCERS IN REVUE

By BETTY GUILD
Nearly six score talented kiddies performed before an enthusiastic audience in the high school auditorium last night when the sixth annual Starlet Review was put on by the Vera Getty Studios for the junior college benefit fund. Tonight a similar recital will be presented by the older dancers of the studios, for the same cause.

Unfortunately, the great number of accomplished young performers accomplished detailed analysis and praise, although each of the rapidly performed numbers was excellently presented. The tiny tots were introduced by little Nayan McNeill, in ruffled ballet frock, three groups of individual and group songs and dances followed. A special feature was the production of Dave King, noted Hollywood dance director.

Particularly outstanding were the clever costumes worn by each child, from quaintest of old-fashioned ruffles to smart modern spangles, from bunnies to pirates, butterflies to soldiers.

William Tell Overture
Two five-year-old acrobatic dancers, Phyllis Ehrler and Jo Ann Hollerith, were outstanding in their numbers requiring unusual physical and musical ability, and the finale, adopted from the "William Tell" overture, was excellently performed in tap arrangement. It will conclude tonight's performance.

The attractive youngsters performing on the program included Nayan McNeill, Betty Pinedy, Rosemary Clark, Sue Hynds, Nancy Robinson, Marie Sullivan, Nada Phillips, Jane Dickson, Natalie Zirnisky, Ruth Dove, Dorothy Haan, Iris Wilson, Phyllis Ehrler, Barbara Adelle Greder, Patsy Dawson, Velma Alcock, Joyce Phillips, Juanita Smith, Diana Ashley, Jean Matson, Ann Borgman, Jorris Duvy, Marjorie Leutinger, Carla Jo Mock, Cheryl Kreutel, Lois Crawford, Dorothy Kimball, Charlotte Franzen, Dorothy Shardon, Barbara Foust, Linda Huber, Sharon Carnahan, Marlene McCollum.

Other Performers

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stocks got off to a good start in today's brief session but, aside from favored specialties, most fell back under week-end profit selling.

The overnight news gripped provided nothing startling market-wise and many traders, believing yesterday's late rally was largely due to the drying up of offerings following the protracted decline, decided to cash in some of their gains and wait for what may happen next week.

The gold fever appeared to have abated in the wake of the President's warning against worry over this situation. The price of the yellow metal was lifted about 1 cent an ounce in London and sizable purchases were made for American account.

While sporadic strikes in Chrysler and General Motors plants were settled, there was no sign of a break in the steel labor deadlock and some steel issues lost advancing vigor. Farm implements achieved considerable popularity for a time, but they failed to hold at the best.

After a fairly active first hour the volume diminished. Prices followed:

Journal's Finance, Citrus, Produce

Week's Citrus Review

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Hot weather in Eastern and Middle-Western auction centers forced California orange and lemon prices sharply higher during the week.

Valencias climbed 24 cents a box to an average for the week in the auctions of $4.45, while the volume was 60 cars less, due to the Memorial day holiday.

Lemons were 94 cents a box higher to average $6.23 with the volume up five cars to a total of 264.

W. C. Frackleton, general manager for the California-Arizona Orange and Grapefruit agency, announced next week's prices at 900 cars of valencias in interstate commerce and 115 in intrastate commerce.

Pacific coast markets were steady on oranges with lemons slightly stronger, the Federal-State Market News reported. Demand continues moderate to good with receipts about seasonal. Prices, f.o.b., range on oranges from $4.75 to $6.50 per box in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Lemon prices ranged from $6.50 to $7.50.

The California Fruit Growers exchange, reporting on both private and auction sales markets, says:

"California valencias this week show considerable improvement, particularly on medium to large sizes and best quality. Volume of sales was slightly below the previous week due to the holiday."

"Keen competition continues from Florida oranges and strawberries, although supplies of the latter are lighter in some parts of the country. Exchange oranges have outlasted Florida oranges by 67 cents a box in the auctions."

"A new estimate from Florida indicates 1500 cars of oranges and 1000 cars of grapefruit remaining for shipment during June."

"The estimate of merchantable Southern California valencias for the season has been further reduced to 22,750 cars. This is a 26 per cent reduction over last season, when 30,752 cars were shipped."

"The demand continues light for California grapefruit and prospects for sale of that variety will be limited until shipments of Florida grapefruit are completed."

"The lemon market showed continued advance during the week. Shipments are going forward at full packing house capacity. The exchange had 4062 cars of lemons in storage on June 1 which is ahead of output of the past five years, but slightly below the average of the last five years."

Orange averages per box for the week, with comparative figures for last week and the corresponding weeks of 1936 and 1935 follow:

Appoints Scout Camp Executives

Harrison White, Orange county Boy Scout executive, announced today that all executive positions to be filled for the annual Scout outings at Camp Rokili have been filled.

This is White's 24th year as a scout camp director and his 16th year at Rokili. An auto driven by Edwin Elliott, Huntington Beach Eagle Scout, has been named athletic director.

Capt. George Richards, on furlough from Mills Field, San Francisco, will have charge of first aid instruction. He will also teach a course in ground aerobics.

Other camp leaders will be Bud McConnell, Donald Pritchard and Richard Wright, Santa Ana; Jack McDavid, Yorba Linda; Jack Berry, La Habra, and Robert Lambert, Huntington Beach.

Court Notes

Title to a lot in Corona Del Mar, claimed by both the city of Newport Beach and by the Citizens National Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles, was awarded to the latter yesterday by Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Mrs. Emma L. Sidnam of Santa Ana sought title to income property in Santa Ana and Long Beach and more than $25,000 in trust deeds and securities she owned jointly with her late husband, Elmer Ellsworth Sidnam. A petition filed in superior court here stated that Sidnam died May 27 in Los Angeles county. Mrs. Sidnam said she and her husband owned the property as joint tenants.

WAYNE SABIN PRAISED BY CAPT. PATE

'He Can Furnish Type of Game Budge Requires To Keep in Shape'

NEW YORK, (AP)—Led by non-playing Capt. Walter L. Pate, who also is chairman of the Davis' cup committee, the United States cup contenders sailed for England today aboard the liner Columbus.

Handy victors over Japan and Australia in North American zone tests, they carried with them high hopes of defeating the European zone winner, Germany, in the round, and then whipping England to return the international tennis trophy to this country for the first time since 1927.

Four Advance America

Four of the players who sailed have had varying shares in advancing the U. S. cause to this point. They are red-headed Don Budge, national champion, and victor in his four singles engagements; blond Gene Mako, Budge's partner in two doubles triumphs; Frank Parker, who teamed successfully with Budge in singles against Japan, and Bryan (Bilsy) Grant, the mighty little man from Atlanta who did equally well as Budge's running mate against Australia.

The lone newcomer was 21-year-old Wayne Sabin, like Budge and Don, a native of the Hume district. Wood lad was added to the squad during practice for the match with the Aussies, and made such a favorable impression that it has decided to "take him" abroad.

Opportunity for Budge

"He will," Captain Page explained, "be able to furnish Budge, in practice, with the type of game Don will have to combat when he goes to Australia. He is a right-hander. A fine doubles player (Sabin has five tandem titles on the winter circuit) he has improved tremendously in singles and has an overhand serve to go with his powerful backhand. He is as fast as any you will find. He is also a good net player."

"And, with his adaptability, he's the best sort of player we could have on the squad in case of an emergency. If one of the other fellows should be injured, or if we're poor form, we can play Sabin in either in singles or doubles."

The inter-zone final, pairing the Americans with the European winner, is slated for July 17, 19 and 20, followed by the challenge round on July 24, 26 and 27, both at Wimbledon.

BRADDOCK NEAR
TRAINING PEAK

GRAND BEACH, Mich. (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock indicated today that after boxing exhibitions terminating Sunday he will ease off in his training for his battle June 22 at Chicago with challenger Joe Louis.

'KID GALAHAD' HAS DEBUT HERE TODAY AT BROADWAY THEATER

BETTE DAVIS, ROBINSON STARRED

Comedy, 'Pick a Star,' Is Second Feature On New Program

With three famous stars heading its cast, Bette Davis, Edward G. Robinson and Humphrey Bogart, a drama of the prize-ring has its local premiere at the Broadway theater today. The film is "Kid Galahad."

Of equal attraction is the second feature on the double bill, "Pick a Star," a star-spangled satire of a Hollywood studio, presenting top-notch funsters in a melodious mirthquake.

Made from the best-selling novel by Francis Wallace, ace sports fictionist, "Kid Galahad" is a thriller which deals not only with those elements of the boxing ring with which everyone is familiar, but with the behind-scenes maneuvering of fighters and managers.

Robinson, staunchly backed by his girl friend, played by Miss Davis, has one contender for the championship. Bogart has another. There's an 11-round fight for the championship filled with thrilling action, a duel to the death between the two managers after the fight, some vast scenes of Madison Square Garden and a tender romance between Eddie's fighter and Eddie's sister. Besides the three stars, the picture features a new star, Wayne Morris, and a new young leading lady, Jane Bryan.

Hal Roach assembles all the comedy personalities at his command in "Pick a Star." Hoydenish Patsy Kelly, wistful Jack Haley and beautiful Rosina Lawrence are pictured as an adventurous trio of jayhawks who are caught up in the hectic swirl of Hollywood night clubs. Wiscracking Patsy Kelly, however, defeats his romantic interlude with Rosina and helps Haley win the girl.

Highlighted are the sequences of Laurel and Hardy making a movie, Lydia Robert singing a hot-cha number, Rosina Lawrence's rendition of the title song-hit; beautifully massed choruses of hundreds of Hollywood's most of hundreds of Hollywood's most.

Selected short subjects will include the popular two-reel featurette, "A Day With the Dionne Quintuplets," held over for today only; a cartoon, and World News events.

Co-starring Robert Taylor and Jean Harlow, Walker's theater will present "Personal Property" as the top half of its new double program opening Thursday for a three-day engagement. The other feature will be "23½ Hours Leave," with James Ellison and Terry Walker.

Short subjects and a newsreel will round out the program. Booking at the State theater for next week include "Man of the People," with Joseph Calleia and Florence Rice, and "Midnight Court," starring Ann Dvorak and John Littel, starting on Wednesday for a two-day engagement. A musical comedy short subject and novelty film complete this program.

On Friday, for two days, the State will present Robert Allen in "Reckless Ranger," augmented by a Three Stooges comedy, color cartoon, newsreel and chapter No. 7 of "Flash Gordon."

FILM DIRECTOR FLYNN DIES

Emmett J. Flynn, one-time ace film director, died yesterday in the Hollywood receiving hospital, apparently from the effect of a sleeping potion, Associated Press reported.

Only last March Flynn eloped to Yuma and was married to Margaret Shelby Fillmore, sister of Mary Miles Minter, the former screen star, who has been embroiled with her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby of Laguna Beach, in a series of court disputes here and in Los Angeles.

The marriage was annulled, however, when it was discovered that Flynn had not been divorced from Mrs. Nita Baker Flynn.

The landlady of the apartment house where Flynn lived took him to the hospital after she heard him fall in his room and entered to find him unconscious.

Beerys Heirs to Father's Estate

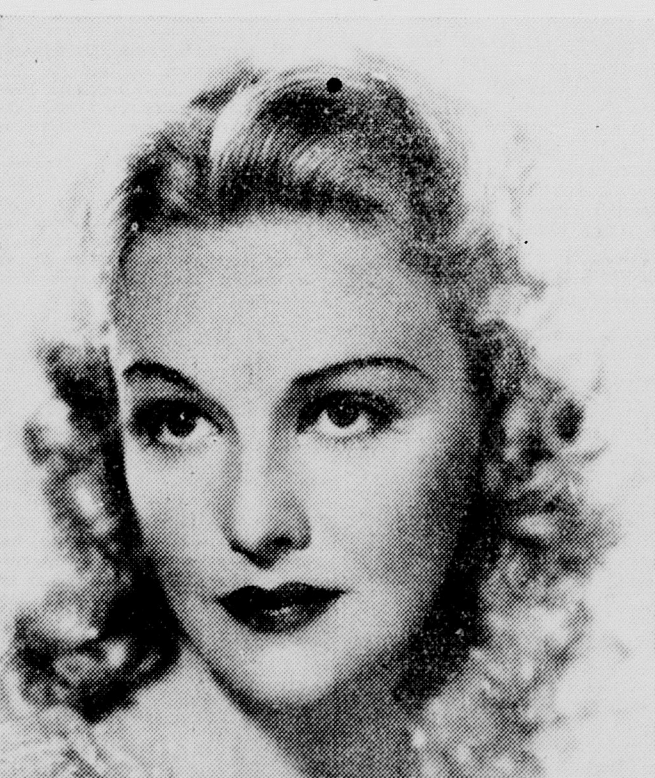

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The will of Noah Webster Beery, who died last May 19, left his estate to his three sons, Wallace and Noah Beery, actors, and William Chester Beery, San Diego oil operator. Beery, who was 87 years of age at the time of his death, left an estate valued at "less than $10,000," the terms of the will disclosed today.

'Kid Galahad' Shows at Broadway

Bette Davis, above, is but one of the three great stars who appear in the thrilling drama of the prize-ring, "Kid Galahad," which opens today at the Broadway theater. The other two stars are Edward G. Robinson and Humphrey Bogart. Second film on the bill is "Pick a Star," hectic Hollywood comedy.

Plays Lead In "Lloyds of London"

Above is pictured Madeleine Carroll, who plays the leading role opposite Tyrone Power in "Lloyds of London," which opens Sunday at Walker's theater, with "Top of the Town" as the second feature on the bill.

NEW JANE WITHERS MOVIE AT BROADWAY WEDNESDAY

An enthralling mystery film and an uproarious comedy constitute the well-balanced double feature program booked by Manager Lester J. Fountain to open at the Broadway theater next Wednesday.

Jane Withers whizzes headlong into trouble in "Angel's Holiday," featured on the program. Mischievous Jane routs the riot squad with its own tear gas and makes trouble as fast as she makes headlines when she turns detective.

Aided and abetted in her topsyturvy spree by Robert Kent, Joan Davis and Sally Blane, the youthful sleuth tracks down and plagues the very lives of a murderous band of gangster-kidnappers who welcome the refuge of jail promised by the final arrival of police.

Disrupting the disappearance of Movie Star Sally Blane, staged for publicity purposes, Jane finds that not a small part of the mischief she has done is to reunite two former sweethearts. Complications arise when the star who has "disappeared" is really kidnapped.

That fascinating detective with a penchant for ornids and not chocolate, Nero Wolfe, is confronted with a triple-murder case in "The League of Frightened Men." Walter Connolly, called "the perfect actor," is one of the most engaging and interesting manhunters the screen has seen.

"The League of Frightened Men" is the story of 13 men and how a mistake made by 12 of them while college students brought deformity for life to one. The one, Paul Chapin, is constantly feared by the others. And then strikes suddenly and mysteriously at two of the 12.

Selected short subjects on the program will include an Our Gang comedy, "Three Smart Boys," a Fitzpatrick travel film in color, "Serene Slami," a Terrytoon cartoon, and World News events.

Culver City Move for Name Change Meets Ridicule

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The fight of the good fathers of Culver City to change the name of the village to Hollywood, was ridiculed yesterday in the Los Angeles city council.

Councilman James M. Hyde, representing a Hollywood district, introduced a resolution suggesting that Culver City might better change the name to "Mayerburg," "Crawfordville," "Gable Center" or "Me Too."

'LLOYDS OF LONDON' AT WALKER'S

The most dramatic era in English history is unfolded on the screen in "Lloyds of London," which opens Sunday at Walker's theater for an engagement of four days, topping a double bill that includes the musical, "Top of the Town."

Tyrone Power, Madeleine Carroll and Freddie Bartholomew are the stars of this epic production. Abilize with action, vivid with pageantry and vital with drama, this story of a love that changed the destiny of an empire unites the thrilling account of the founding of England's sea power, and the establishment of the world's most exciting and extraordinary institution.

Power plays the role of Jonathan Blake, whose love for a married woman causes him to set a goal of power in the insurance underwriting institution known as Lloyds, whose boyhood friendship for Admiral Lord Nelson causes him to perpetrate a desperate ruse that saves Britain from French invasion and domination, and permits British merchantmen to carry on Britain's life-blood, world trade.

With the three stars in the cast are the late Sir Guy Standing, Aubrey Smith, Virginia Field, Douglas Scott, George Sanders, J. M. Kerrigan, Una O'Connor and many others prominent in the film world.

"Top of the Town" stars Doris Nolan and George Murphy, with such players as Hugh Herbert, Gregory Ratoff, Gertrude Niesen, Ella Logan, Henry Armetta, Mischa Auer, Samuel S. Hinds and Claude Gillingwater hearing the supporting cast.

The picture features music, comedy and dancing, and tells the story of a balmey young heroess with millions of daffy ideas who takes over a night club and turns it into a music-mad riot of fun.

In addition, the two features, an Our Gang comedy, "Reunion in Rhythm," and a newsreel will be shown.

'PARNELL' HERE WEDNESDAY

"Parnell" hailed as one of the greatest films of all time, and which was shown at a "sneak" preview here recently, will open at the Broadway theater next Wednesday with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in the leading roles. It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain. Second film on the program is "Big Business."

"Parnell" is the drama of Ireland's so-called uncrowned king who paved the way toward home rule. Dangerous politics and dangerous love in the crucial period of Irish history form the intriguing elements of the dramatic plot.

Gable plays the title role in the great production, in a splendid performance. Myrna Loy delivers her role as the woman whose love for the Irish party leader wrecks him politically, with memorable poignancy.

In support, Edna May Oliver shines as Miss Loy's sardonic aunt, Alan Marshall, the unaffected husband of Miss Loy, who combines with Gladstone and Parnell's enemies to discredit him and the Irish cause. Donald Crisp has a strong role as a Parnell party whip. Billie Burke plays the smirking and ludicrously inquisitive sister of Miss Loy.

Setting a lively and thoroughly realistic pace right from the start, "Big Business," one of the Jones Family series, comes through as an excellent piece of entertainment which features a cast including Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Spring Byington, Russell Gleason, Kenneth Howell and Allan Lane. Prouty takes the part of the small-town drug store owner who gets himself into a financial jam on worthless stock.

Special arrangements were made by Manager Lester J. Fountain of the Broadway theater today to hold over for today only the most popular two-reeler ever screened here. It is "A Day With the Dionne Quintuplets," and depicts the five lovely young ladies in intimate scenes in their Canadian nursery.

"A Day With the Dionne Quintuplets" was scheduled to be closed at the Broadway last night, but Manager Fountain was able to keep the film here for an extra day's showing because of the big hit it made with theatergoers.

Marx Brothers' Newest Booked

The mad, merry Marx Brothers bring their latest comedy, "A Day at the Races," to the screen of the West Coast theater starting Wednesday, June 16 it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

More than a year was spent in preparation of the madcap plot, hilarious gags and side-splitting situations in the film, advance notices say. Appearing in support of Groucho, Harpo and Chico are Maureen O'Sullivan and Allan Jones in the romantic leads, and Margaret Dumont, Esther Muir and others add to the chorles.

'THIS IS MY AFFAIR' AT WEST COAST

A cast headed by Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck and Victor McLaglen is thrilling audiences at the West Coast theater in the powerful romantic drama, "This Is My Affair," which is the current attraction with a second film, "Oh, Doctor," Edward Everett Horton laugh riot.

The exciting events of "This Is My Affair" take place at the turn of the century, when the stability of the nation is threatened by an unprecedented series of sensational bank robberies in the Middle West. In a desperate move, President William McKinley calls upon a young lieutenant, played by Taylor, who has had a brilliant record under Admiral Dewey.

Sworn to secrecy, Taylor is instructed to disgrace himself in the navy, to be discharged and eventually to find his way to the bank robbers. No one but the president knows of the plan. He finds the gang, and in doing so finds a girl with whom he falls in love. Events mount to a dramatic climax which finds Taylor apparently doomed to hanging, when, captured with a gang during a bank robbery in which a secret service man is killed, he learns that the one man who could save him, President McKinley, has just been assassinated.

Edward Everett Horton plays a combination of Tarzan, human fly and racing driver in "Oh, Doctor," based on the Harry Leon Wilson novel of the same name. The comedian takes to all sorts of strange things to prove to his beautiful nurse that he is a better man than a handsome publicity-seeking athlete. In the early part of the film Horton portrays a gentleman who enjoys poor health, seeking new illnesses that he can have. Things start to happen after a band of crooks, certain he'll die in six months, give him $50,000 with which to enjoy his sickness in return for his huge inheritance.

Colbert's New Film Will Show Here June 13

An up-to-the-minute gal with a thirst for fun, Claudette Colbert sails merrily abroad in her new comedy-romance, "I Met Him in Paris," which will open at the Broadway theater Sunday, June 13, with a second feature, "Speed to Spare."

In "I Met Him in Paris" Miss Colbert plunges headlong into a double-barrelled romance with two giddy, debonair young men, Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young, who play the parts of writers and both of whom are determined to win her heart. Much of the action is laid in the Swiss Alps and Miss Colbert is seen in a stunning array of outdoor sport fashions.

Literally a whole speedway full of championship racing drivers appear with Charles Quigley, Dorothy Wilson, Eddie Nugent and Patricia Farr in "Speed to Spare." Such drivers as Rex Mays, Chet Gardner, Bob Swanson, Louis Tomei, Fred Frame and others do their death-defying best to thrill audiences in the racing sequences of the romantic drama.

STATE SHOWS M'LAGLEN PICTURE

Victor McLaglen, Walter Connolly, Peter Lorre, June Lang, Robert Kent—such are the names leading the cast of "Nancy Steele Is Missing," which opens Sunday at the State theater for an engagement of three days. The second feature on the program is "Captain Calamity," starring George Houston.

"Nancy Steele Is Missing" is the story of a pacifist who, in 1917, aims his hatred at a munitions magnate and steals his baby daughter, planning later to return her for a huge ransom. But in the meantime he is sent to prison for a long term, and his cellmate, a clever criminal, learns his secret.

Upon his release years later, the pacifist finds the munitions magnate a broken and pitiful figure. He forgets the ransom plan, and determines to return the man's daughter. But his cellmate outwits him, palms off another girl as the magnate's missing daughter and prepares to flee the country with the reward when the pacifist halts him and forces him to confess his trick. The father and daughter then are reunited, and the pacifist once more goes back to prison for violation of his parole.

With the above-named five in the cast are Shirley Deane, John Carradine, Jane Darwell, Frank Conroy and others.

Filed in natural colors, "Captain Calamity" tells a story of intrigue and adventure in the South Seas. It concerns efforts of a gang of cut-throats to seize a supposed pirate treasure which the captain, played by Houston, is believed to have discovered.

In the cast with Houston are Marian Nixon, Vince Barnett, Crane Wilbur, George Lewis and Roy D'Arcy.

To round out the bill, the theater will show chapter No. 4 of "Ace Drummond."

MANY MORE COMPLIMENT JOURNAL

Journal readers today who commented on the bigger and better Journal didn't appear at all surprised over its several new major features. With one accord they expressed the thought that they've come to take the progressiveness of The Journal for granted. They find that it gives its space to the latest and best of every sort of news, and as it grows so steadily, they find themselves growing in appreciation of it.

Mrs. Golden Veston, head of the adult education department, remarked that her family notices a constant improvement in The Journal. With a minimum of time to spare, she finds it gives ample evidence to everything she wants to know, whether it be news or special articles on legislation, politics and education.

Mrs. R. A. McMahon, president of the Woman's Club, is enthusiastic about the full space allotted for club news and women's activities and the two boys in her family like the colored comics so well that they can only hope they'll become a daily feature.

Another prominent Santa Ana Clubwoman, Mrs. Lena Hewitt, remarked on the splendid coverage of women's features in The Journal, and said that she liked knowing that when she picked up The Journal, she'd find what she wanted to find, in every department.

Mickey Walker thinks The Journal's sport pages are the tops—and he thinks Bob Burns is a wow!

And the Eugene Robinsons, on North Flower street, read The Journal from cover to cover—there are features and news in it for the entire family, and the double size makes it just doubly popular in their household.

Here Are Ways to Be Appealing to Men

Mrs. W. H. Bracewell of 1805 Greenleaf street returned Thursday from a visit with two uncles, Claude and Lawrence Owens, in Chicago, and then with an aunt, Mrs. Ella Parrish, in Lexington, Ky.

But there's no charm that Carol uses unconsciously that a clever girl can't learn to use.

You can have even her magnetic smile. Stand before the mirror and think of the happiest day of your life. Doesn't your whole face light up? Practice this radiant smile often enough—and it becomes natural to you.

But why do men love to talk to Carol? Turn to her first with their confidences? If you ask Jack about his law studies, sympathize with Tom's radio ambitions and do it all with sincerity—men will want to talk to you, too.

Our 32-page booklet explains the psychological laws of attraction, tells you how to win the man you want, gives you secrets of a happy marriage.

COMFY MARTIN PRINCESS SLIP HAS EXTRA SHADOW-PROOF PANEL

9332

'Neath your dainty Summer frocks and dress-up sheers, you'll be wanting a crisp, comfy slip that flares gracefully at the hem, yet fits well at the waistline, too, and where could you find a more perfect choice than Pattern 9332? Lovely, lithe princess lines (so easy to cut and fit together) solve all your problems, specially when made of sturdy, washable synthetic, soft crepe, satin, or rustling taffeta. You'll love the comfort of a built-up shoulder that eliminates that old problem—falling shoulder straps! And here's the finest feature of all—a clever panel in the back that guarantees perfect shadow-proofing, though if you feel you don't need it—it may be omitted in the making! Complete diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart included.

Pattern 9332 may be ordered only in misses and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3 1/4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

Away with "wardrobe problems!" Order the new Summer Marian Martin Pattern Book for dashing, easy-to-make clothes that will fit your needs to a "T!" Brighten up hours of work and play with jolly wash frocks, carefree sportswear, dainty sheers, lovely party styles—"winners" all! See the newest ideas for multiplying your costumes! Kiddie and Junior tocs, too! Book 15 cents. Pattern 15 cents. Twenty-five cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern department, Santa Ana.

Among the Kilocycles

With Frank Orr
The Journal's Radio Reporter

COMES ANOTHER week-end. This time, for the first Sunday in a long time, Eddie Cantor won't be sparkling tomorrow night. He concluded his present series last Sunday. Incidentally, there still seems to be some question about the seven-year contract he is reported to have signed. Some say yes, some say no.

PHIL SPITALNY and his all-girl orchestra do double duty on the kilocycles this week. Tomorrow night he makes a guest appearance on the Magic Key program, along with such as Giovanni Martinelli, the Italian tenor, and William Primrose, viola virtuoso. Then they have their regular program on Monday. Tomorrow's Magic Key program on KECA at 10 a. m.

ANOTHER SWITCH is that of Bob Ripley, the oddity man. Following his present series, which ends June 27, he may be united with the original lineup of B. A. Rolfe and the Men About Town. New sponsor, too, and the program will be Fridays instead of Sunday. Ripley, incidentally, almost was a big-league pitcher. After hurling one game for the Giants, he broke an arm. That was that.

MUTUAL'S DANCE orchestra tonight include Happy Feet, Jimmy Dorsey, Tommy Tucker, George Whitty, Les Sanders, Sterling Young, Les Hite and Earl Hines. KVQE at various times.

WHAT'S DOING ON KVQE

From chapter 43 to 45 of the Book of Genesis is taken the story of "Benjamin's Cup," to be dramatized by the Sunday Players on KVQE tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. This will be the concluding chapter of the story about Joseph and the coat of many colors, and will tell of Joseph's demand of his brothers that they bring the boy Benjamin to him to relieve their starvation. And while returning home, they discovered the lord over-seer's silver cup in Benjamin's bag, making it seem for a time that all the fears of their father, Jacob, were realized.

ACQUA MEET

Description of the National Aquatic Meet at Olympic Stadium, Los Angeles, will be aired this afternoon at 4:45. Participants in the events which will be brought to the microphone for short talks include Buster Crabbe, former Olympic swimming champion who is attempting to break his own 250 meter swim record, and Mickey Riley, Olympic diving star.

CONNIE BENNETT

Constance Bennett, screen actress who several years ago secured the highest salary ever paid a movie star—$50,000 per week—will be interviewed by George Fischer tonight at 6:15 during his "Hollywood Whisper" broadcast.

THORNE IN THE FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE
Children's Day

Were we to continue our series of Old Testament characters, we would look at a portion of the life of Joseph. But, inasmuch as many churches are holding special Children's day services, either this week or next, let us turn from Joseph, a model child of yesterday, to our own children of today who are to be our citizens of tomorrow.

Many of us have children in our own homes—and those of us who have are indeed fortunate. Yet whether we have or not, who can say he is not interested in children? After all, they are our leaders, for it is written "And a little child shall lead them."

Jesus preached to all classes of people—the high, low, ignorant, cultured, rich and poor. But especially did he notice the children. We are all familiar with his saying, "Suffer little children to come unto me for such is the Kingdom of Heaven." But he also said except we repent and become as little children we should in no wise enter the Kingdom of Heaven. It has been said that in Heaven, every day will be Children's day and that those who do not love little children here could not plan on going to that place.

It is difficult to try to separate the thought of children from home and mother. Someone once said that John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, but rather his mother. He himself on being asked when to begin to train a child replied "Before it is born."

We do much for some people and receive so little praise and appreciation, but look at the big returns which come to one who bestows favor and help to a child. There you'll find a lasting appreciation, yielding big dividends.

It is not a very long journey from the bulb to the flower in the horticultural world, but much depends upon the planting, kind of soil, atmospheric elements, etc. as to what kind of a flower will develop. Just so with children. Most of us pride ourselves on our good "stock." But what kind of soil and atmospheric elements are we rearing our children in? Can we expect a child reared in a home of drunkenness, hatred, strife and moral depravity to develop into the citizen he might under more favorable circumstances? The old song says "Backward, turn backward, oh time in your flight, make me a child again..." Are our homes such that our children will love that song in years to come, or will it be a nightmare to them?

Yes, the home plays a very important part in the development of the child. But more yet is needed—the touch of the Divine. The Great Sulptor's hand is needed. We should take our little ones down to the Master Potter, hand Him the bundle of clay, let Him mold and fashion and make—and finally stamp His own image on him or her. He will dis-

"LIVING" CLAY
I took a piece of plastic clay,
And idly fashioned it one day,
And as my fingers pressed it,
It moved and yielded to my will.

I came again when days were past,
The bit of clay was hard at last;
The form I gave it still it bore,
But I could change that form no more.

I took a piece of living clay,
And gently formed it day by day;
And molded with my power and art,
A young child's soft and yielding heart.

I came again when years were gone,
It was a man I looked upon;
He still that early impress wore,
And I could change him nevermore.

cover the sleeping giant of possibilities within a young life, take it to the top where the race is not crowded and build into it personality and character. We will then be astonished at the result and finished product.

A great opportunity lies at the door of each and every church and Sunday school. I am thinking today of my own father and his Sunday school class back home. He asked for a vacant room to build his own Sunday school class and called on those in the neighborhood. It was his intention to help those boys who apparently had none of the higher aims in life. So he called at homes: "Do you have any boys between the age of 12 to 15? Do they attend Sunday school anywhere?" If they did, he said, "That is fine. Keep them there; you will never regret it." But if they were not attending anywhere, he explained his program and asked the parents if they were interested in having their boy added to the group.

The group grew. Boys became interested and asked to join. One day one youngster stopped my father on the street and said "I'd like to come to your class but my father won't let me." My father went to the boy's father and when he announced himself, he was turned down flatly but was asked "What are you trying to do anyway?" My father explained, and when through the man called his son in and said, "Son, I want you to be there every time, and on time, and I'll lick you if you aren't." That class of boys now numbers 50, practically all of whom had been receiving no religious instruction whatsoever previously!

Yes, a golden opportunity lies at the door of every church. Too often we receive the students of the church. Henry Ward Beecher said "The church is not a museum of saints but a workshop for building character"—and youth is the time for that.

Does Christian training pay dividends to society? H. Lewis L. Fawcett, justice of the supreme court of the state of New York, says: "During my experience of more than 28 years on the bench, I have passed sentence on over 5000 persons convicted of crime. Very few were members of or attendants at any church or Sunday school. More than 4000 of the 8000 prisoners sentenced by me were under the age of 21 years and only three were members of the Sunday school at the time of committing their crimes. That suffices me of the value of the Sunday school to the community and of the value to the individual."

"I regard Sunday schools and churches as the only means of stemming the tide of crime among our youth. Religious training of children should be the basis of their education. If all children were kept under the influence of the Sunday school and church during their 'teens'—the formative period of their lives—and all grownups would take an active interest in their lives, the probability of losing prisons and jails instead of building more... This country is no stronger than the homes of its people, and the homes are no stronger than the religion in them."

It costs $6 a year to give a boy or girl Christian training; it costs $600 a year to take care of one in prison. Does it pay?

Let us take Children's day seriously, and make every day Children's day!

CECILIANs TO GIVE ABBEY CONCERT

The vesper concert at Melrose Abbey at 3 p. m. Sunday will be given by a group from the Cecilian Singers of Santa Ana. The singers, conducted by Halsead McCormac, will open the program with "To the Spirit of Music," written by Percy Rector Stephens for the Shumann club of New York, of which he is conductor. A trio, "Candle Light," by Charles Wakefield Cadman, will be sung by Elizabeth Morgan, Laura Joiner and LaVerne Van Wyk. The poem, "Candle Light," is by Lee Shippey, popular newspaper columnist and author, and was dedicated to his mother.

Following the singing of the Bach "Praise Our God Who Reigns in Heaven," Russell C. Crouse will be heard in two numbers, accompanied by Miss Esther Vogt, accompanist for the Cecilian Singers. Crouse is one of Santa Ana's favorite tenors, and gave a fine performance in this past season when he sang on the radio, playing roles in "The Bartered Bride," which was ably presented by the Orange Woman's club.

A group of numbers from "The Biblical Sketches" by Dvorak will be sung by Elizabeth Morgan, soprano. Miss Laura Joiner, contralto, will sing "Life," the recently published composition of Miss Beulah Parker.

One of the most enjoyable numbers will be a group from "Symphonic Pieces" for organ and piano by Joseph W. Clokey, organist and composer at Pomona college. Clokey's "Symphonic Piece" was published in 1927 and was given its first hearing in Santa Ana a few years ago when all five of its movements were played on one of McCormac's organ recitals in the First Methodist church. A number of Santa Ana music lovers recall that performance. Miss Vogt and McCormac play "Polonaise" and "Intermezzo" this Sunday afternoon.

The program will close with the beautiful "Scene and Prayer" (Cavalleria Rusticana) by Mascagni, sung by the Cecilian Singers with organ and piano accompaniment.

The general public is invited to attend the program. Melrose Abbey is located on 101 highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim.

BAPTIST YEAR BOOK WINS AWARD

An unusual distinction came to the Women's Society of the First Baptist church recently when its year book for 1936-1937, "On the Master's Waterways," was awarded a cum laude prize at the National Baptist convention at Philadelphia.

In making the award, Miss Elizabeth Fensom, of the council of promotion and finance, stated the judges declared the book was so far superior to others submitted, and likely to be so in years to come, that they had taken it out of the regular competition, to award it this very special honor.

The society has won three first prizes within the last four years, in national contests.

The program committee responsible for the book consisted of Mesdames Earl L. Morris, Albert F. Hill, John E. Swank, L. Carlton Fairbanks and Harry S. Harlow. Mrs. J. P. Williams was editor of the year book, and Miss Lula Minter, president of the society.

TEXAS ...

Standing unique among her sister states as the only state in the Union to have once been an independent republic, Texas has had a colorful history. During its varied history, the seat of the government of Texas has been changed 15 times. Under early Spanish rule, it was governed from Mexico City. From 1720 to 1732 it was ruled by a Spanish governor in Los Adaes, now Robeline, La. Next was San Antonio, which remained the capital for over a century. Saltillo served as a provisional capital from 1824 to 1833 when Monclova was made the capital of Texas-Coahuila. It was moved to San Felipe de Austin in 1835. Washington-on-the-Brazos served as the first seat of the Texas Republic and was followed by Harrisburg, Galveston, Velasco, Columbia, on-the-Brazos, Houston, Austin, Houston again, then Washington-on-the-Brazos again. These movements, made between 1836 and 1842, were caused through fear of Mexican attacks. In 1845 the capital was re-established in Austin where it has remained ever since.

Years Only Add to Cutwork's Charm

PATTERN 5873

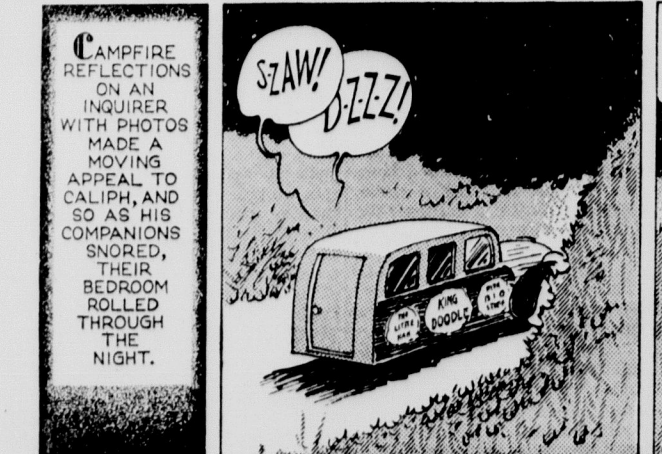

Years will but add to this cutwork's charm—for its rose "silhouettes" will ever remain as lovely as the day you embroidered them. Here is a pastime both fascinating and profitable, for where is the woman who doesn't long for an abundance of such beautifully adorned linens whether buffet set, scarfs, towels, refreshment sets or dollies? You can make a lovely scarf using the long edges of the larger motif with the center motifs of the smaller one on the ends. In pattern 5873 you will find a transfer pattern of a dolly 12 x 18, inches and two dollies 9 x 12 inches; illustrations of all stitches used; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, California. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address and Pattern Number.

Who Pays for Parking Meters?

BEFORE the city council jumps in and orders parking meters installed here, it might be a good idea to figure out just how much this step is going to cost local taxpayers on top of what they are already paying.

In the first place comes the cost of the meters. It is conservative to put this at about $25,000 or so.

Next comes the cost of paying rent on the streets. How many thousands of dollars a year this will run into, no one knows. But it will be plenty.

Who pays for all this new expense load?

Not the city council, not the parking meter representatives—but Mr. and Mrs. John J. Average Citizen.

It is easy for some of our officials to say that the new parking meter tax will be "painless," and that our shoppers and visitors and citizens won't notice the drain at a nickel a time.

But let's consider an individual case.

Suppose that you drive to town to buy your household supplies or get some professional service 150 days out of the year. And that two-thirds of this time you have to put 5 cents in the curbstone slot machines.

Your parking bill for the year will be $5. Whereas now it is nothing.

Multiply this $5 a year by the thousands of motorists who come to Santa Ana to shop or to get professional service and you uncover a drain on the public purse that is almost staggering.

It is not out of reason to estimate that another $25,000 will be taken each year from the automobile public for this rent on the streets.

It seems to us that $25,000 for the purchase of the meters and $25,000 a year thereafter is a pretty high price to pay for running a few hundred parking pigs out of the downtown district.

We believe that the job could be done for about one-tenth of that sum by the hiring of a couple of parking patrolmen with orders to really do their stuff on chronic overtime parkers.

We are willing to bet that the city council could make a contract with a couple of livewire, efficient citizens to do the job for $2500 a year.

In this way, the legitimate shopper and visitor would not be unjustly penalized and taxpaying automobile owners would be saved thousands of dollars of unfair and unnecessary expense.

You'll enjoy the horse show today. And the money goes to charity.

This Question of Court Reform

DISCUSSING a compromise on the supreme court packing bill, administration leaders in Washington indicate they are willing to accept a reduction in the number of New Deal appointees from six to two.

This is quite a change from the cocksure attitude which prevailed when President Roosevelt first demanded that congress pack the supreme court—now!

But we can detect no change, however, in the fundamental question of principle in the proposal, which is simply this, to our way of thinking: Should an overbalance of power in favor of the judicial be corrected by the executive branch packing the court so as to bring about an overbalance of power in favor of the executive?

We think not. Packing the court with two new justices is just as wrong in principle as packing it with six, in our opinion. It is not a compromise. Instead, it is the same thing, only in different degree.

The President's complaint about failure of the high bench to take action this term on the important TVA, PWA, SEC, and aluminum trust cases is well taken, however.

In failing to clear up the legal fog which surrounds these matters, the court has left the government and the nation, as well, in a decidedly embarrassing position.

This failure to clear up the docket would not necessarily be overcome by adding two New Deal justices to the present court membership, however. Indeed, the two new magistrates might be as dilatory as the present group. There is nothing to guarantee otherwise.

Slowness in the court should be remedied in a sure and certain fashion by the enactment of laws to effect a definite cure. This reform, we believe, would be universally supported.

The nation favors speedier, cheaper justice for all. But it should be sought through curative legislation, as we see it—and not by injudicious and uncertain political maneuvers which deal only with the liberal or conservative outlook of the individual judges.

After dodging Fords all day, it's hard to understand why their inventor seems to prefer the horse-and-buggy days.

Going Up Like a Skyrocket

LIKE a flannel shirt in the wash, the ladies' skirts are shrinking. Four years ago they dragged the floor. Three years ago they jumped to 10 inches. Now they are about 14 or 15. And next year, according to Paris decree, they may rise to the height of Scotch kilts.

Even the Duchess of Windsor has bought some of the high pocket variety, so the long skirt fans might as well surrender.

Those who admire the female form may be pleased at the change. But to judge from some of the human architecture that is being displayed, the new style is no improvement.

It's unusual weather when a light rain and a heavy fog doesn't blow in to spoil the week-end outing.

WHIMSIES

DAY
BY DAY

With
O. O.
McINTYRE

The country town hotel is teetering on the brink of oblivion. The trailer, tourist camp, telephone and miracle of motoring have all played their parts in its undoing. Hundreds of rural inns over the land merely hang on, waiting the inevitable foreclosure.

In retrospect these havens seemed notable contributions to community contact. My father spent all his active years as a Missouri hotel proprietor, and I spent many of my formative days in what then appeared to be an exciting flurry of travel, strange faces and constant change.

The country hotel was the hub of the village. Most of the news of the world outside radiated from there. From the city drummer the town slicker acquired their sartorial slick. It was where the trouper stopped when they came with their tricks of illusion, sou-brettes, villains and handsome heroes.

Country hotel offices were cut to a familiar pattern. There was the semi-circular reception desk with the open register and pens spiked in a raw potato or cup of bird shot. Alongside, the cigar case. Back of them, the big iron safe, key rack and clock whose face heralded the miracles of some medical bitters. Centering the room, the pot-bellied stove festooned with its yawning boxes of sand that served as cushions. On the side, the writing desk with a half dozen chairs, and in a corner the high shoe-shine chair, operated by the combination porter, belboy and houseman—all in one.

The dining room led off the office through swing doors, and there was a rack for hats at the entrance—no snide hat checking on those days. There was the drummers' table, distinguished by a bowl of city oranges and bananas, and from the ceiling hung an enormous and smelly kerosene lamp. Waitresses were rather flip, perched on high chairs, and the St. Joseph. Usually they were talked about, but now and then one married a local boy and turned out to be a wonderful wife and mother. But rarely was she ever accepted into the social realm.

The general run of country hotels were $2 a day, and included a room and three meals. And what meals! At breakfast, for instance, the aproned waitress singing-song over your shoulder: Bacon and fried eggs, fried chicken, steak with onions, sausage and griddle cakes, pork chops with apple rings and spare ribs. With the entrée came a variety of tempting doodads, such as fried mush, hominy grits and butter beets served in birdcage dishes. The coffee and milk you could drink, and no sniffs at requests for second helpings.

Many hotels were so comfortable and home-like they won for the village the sobriquet of "Sunday towns." My father's inn creased that distinction. Drummers came on Saturday night and remained until Monday, and thus the hotel office on Saturday night was awash with a thrilling cosmopolitanism.

In one corner a pitch, seven-up or cribbage game, and the room was literally opalescent with cigar and pipe smoke. Now and then Clum Jenkins, the hackman, would throw open the front door to bark: "Sante Fe north, Rock Island south." And Jimmy J. L. Lucas, the town doctor, would weave about in an alcoholic blur until led out again. Also the eternally henpecked Major Bunce, who would skitter in a moment, like a frightened rabbit, for a look around while on his way to Sutter's notion store to match ribbons or silks for his wife, the town city slicker.

There was a crude heartiness about the crowd in the hotel office. Their rivalry had the raw flavor of the barn-yard, but somehow it was wholesome in contrast to the psychopathic pap of today. Many were tobacco chompers and pipe smokers, with a wardrobe of two suits—one for work and one "for nice." But they were substantial folk, with respect for the laws and the constitution.

Sunday mornings, in seasonable weather, the chairs were placed at the curb and the office moved out to watch the town go by to the postoffice and church. The farm boys would come on horseback in their Sunday suits and rack their mounts in Perkins' pasture across the way to yawk at the city folk. Giggly girls would flounce by affecting indifference, but a half block away would eddy up to some window and glance back, expectantly! How prosaic it all is to recall—and yet how tremendous it was for all of us.

Gordon, the Scottish painter, was exhibiting in London one year, and Viscount Palmerston, the English statesman, took a sudden liking to his painting, "Summer in the Lowlands." He talked to Gordon at some length, and finally said, with a twinkle in his

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note: Harry Woodring, secretary of war, is taken for a free ride on The Washington Merry-Go-Round in the personal sketch that follows. He gets the Merry-Go-Round's coveted Brass Ring.)

WASHINGTON.—The elevation of Harry H. Woodring to the rank of secretary of war is an illustration of Roosevelt's greatest personal weakness. He cannot be hard-boiled with those around him.

Roosevelt did not want Woodring as secretary of war. He did not even relish him as assistant secretary of war. The general did not want him. Not even Jim Farley wanted him. But Harry Woodring is now secretary of war.

The answer is that Harry just loved being acting-secretary of war, and Roosevelt couldn't bear to see him go. Happily, Harry has a lovely wife, and they have two lovely babies. They were wise enough to select son Jimmy Roosevelt as best man when they were married. And whenever F. D. Roosevelt came home from one of his many trips, Harry was always down at the Union Station to meet him.

In addition to all this, there wasn't anyone else clamoring to be secretary of war. So after George Dern died, Woodring became acting secretary, and finally full-fledged secretary of war.

WAR CONTRACTS SCANDAL
All of which goes to prove that the memory of mankind is short. For it was not long before this that Harry Woodring, then a much-criticized assistant secretary of war, was pleading for his political life before a grand jury investigating charges of fraud in army contracts.

Had the hand of fate predicted to Roosevelt at that time that Harry Woodring was going to become a full-fledged member of his cabinet, he never would have believed it. For at that time Woodring even suffered the humiliation of having his chief, Secretary Dern, order him to keep a register of every caller at his office and submit the list for inspection twice a week.

TOO FRIENDLY

The chief trouble with Woodring was too many friends and too much of a great anxiety to please. Some of those friends were interested in getting army contracts. One friend, Ralph O'Neill, represented Joe Silverman, second-hand dealer, who bought 50,000 raincoats for 25 cents apiece, then wanted to sell them back to the army for $1.32, which was 65 cents cheaper than the army could get them elsewhere.

The army needed the raincoats, but bought them for $1.97 from somebody else.

Since he was the lowest bid, Silverman and O'Neill threatened to sue. So Woodring worked out a deal by which the raincoats were returned to the army, and Silverman was given saddles, bridles and tent covers in exchange.

Instead she is now raising two small Woodrings, 156 and 158, and a cow that gives 25 quarts of milk daily. She has played a very important part in her husband's definite promotion to secretary of war. For there is nothing Roosevelt hates more than to interrupt marital bliss, especially where a pretty wife is involved.

And Helen Woodring didn't like the idea of going back to Kansas

But before they could be delivered, General MacArthur stepped in and called it an "outrage and robbery of the American taxpayer."

There were other army bids involving airplanes and trucks, all of which caused a terrific furore at the time, plus a congressional investigation. But when Roosevelt appointed Woodring secretary of war three years later, everyone had forgotten it. There was not a line about it in any newspaper.

HORATIO ALGER (?)

WOODRING
When Harry Woodring pleaded his case before the grand jury investigating army contracts, the argument that made the biggest impression upon the jurors was his description of how he began life as janitor of a bank in Neodesha, Kan. Tears came to his eyes as he recounted the struggle of those early years.

The only thing Harry neglected to say was that his father owned the bank.

This explains young Woodring's meteoric rise to be president and chief of a bank at the age of 31. As the biographical sketches of our hero portray him selling popcorn in the streets, and working his way up from the lowly life of a poor farm boy.

Harry did work hard. But he had a few lucky boosts along the way.

One boost was his enlistment as a private in 1917. Through no fault of his own, Harry got no further than Camp Colt, at Gettysburg, Pa., but in later years this service helped make him Kansas commander of the American Legion, and gave him a filip to his gubernatorial campaign in 1930.

Woodring was one of only three Democrats elected governor of Kansas in 76 years, and he scraped in by a margin of only 251 votes and a pure fluke. He was picked originally as a "sacrificial" candidate. The Democrats had to nominate someone. He was elected because of a factional fight within Republican ranks.

Once elected, however, he was a first-rate governor, and kept the allegiance of a Republican legislature. On the whole his was a New Deal administration. He even preceded Roosevelt in setting up a social security program.

MRS. WOODRING

When Woodring first came to Washington as assistant war secretary, he came as a bachelor. But one of the best things he did was to marry the daughter of Senator Marcus Coolidge of Massachusetts, distantly related to Calvin Coolidge, though a Democrat.

Helen Coolidge, already well known to Washington as an artist of some talent. She had studied under Fritz Winold Reiss, and had done crayon sketches of various Washington figures, even making a trip to the Northwest where she drew the drawings of Indian and cowboy life.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Abraham Ruef, the convicted political boss of San Francisco, who is serving a 14-year sentence for giving a bribe to one of the boodling supervisors during the incumbency of Mayor E. E. Schmitz, was disbarred yesterday by the supreme court from practicing as an attorney in the courts of this state.

The city council last night by a vote of three to one, the one dissenting vote being cast by Trustee Ey, of the first ward, sanctioned the purchase of a right of way for an outfall sewer from the Willow Land company, a bribe to one of the boodling supervisors during the incumbency of Mayor E. Vice President Paul Shoup, K. McMillan, D. W. Pontius, Chief Engineer Pillsbury, Assistant Engineer Johnson, and other officials of the Pacific Electric company were here yesterday on a glad-handing expedition, having come primarily to meet a committee of Orange citizens in regard to the proposed extension of the electric line to Orange.

Science News

A new device, designed for use in filling stations and garages, enables motorists to test the condition of their crankcase oil. A very small amount of the lubricant is removed from the crankcase, placed in the testing machine. The machine instantly indicates the temperature of the oil, its viscosity, color as compared to new oil, and amount of dirt it contains.

After the first three I was cleared away I found out that Chet's substitution really did supply money to build a home, but you had to have a better reputation than I did to get it. It was mighty nice of him to call my attention to the sixteen varieties, and if you're really serious about a home, talk to Warren—it won't do any good to talk to me.

The Mailbag

Readers are invited to contribute Mailbag letters on topics of general interest. Rules: (1) letters must not exceed about 200 words—longer ones will be edited; (2) writers must sign names and addresses—unsigned letters will be ignored; initials only or pen names will be used when requested; (3) confine each letter to ONE idea; if you have two ideas, write two letters; (4) letters must wait turn for publication; (5) discussion of matters in the news, and therefore known to all readers, are preferred. Please cooperate by observing these rules. Thanks.—Editor.

"STOP" SIGNS OFFICER
To the Editor: As a comparatively new resident in your fine county, I am surprised at the condition of the numerous "stop" signs at the various intersections all over the country district.

Many of them are very hard to see due to weeds and branches which have been allowed to grow out over them and others are so far back from the intersecting street or road as to make them almost useless. Then at night, some of the signs are visible from reflected headlights but a good many are not at all possible to read until one is right up on top of them. It seems to me that many traffic accidents could be avoided if the county road department or whoever was that job to do were awake to the situation.

This may seem a silly letter, but, believe me, if someone gets killed or hurt by reason of the carelessness of the proper authority, it will be pretty tough for their family. Yours for safer Orange county highways.

Howdy, folks! No form of architecture is so much appreciated as the towering structure mother builds out of shortcake and ripe strawberries.

These new house-trailers have one advantage over a home. If you don't like your next-door neighbor, you can merely step on your starter and drive away.

Invitation to go to San Francisco to see the bridges. Couldn't go, for several reasons. I did not have enough copy prepared so I could get away. Inventory revealed a lack of funds. It wasn't necessary to go that far to see a bridge, and then I didn't care to go in the first place. I've become so accustomed to the city limits that it must be something extraordinary to go beyond the lines. Why, San Francisco would have to put on another earthquake—and then I wouldn't go.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town
With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Some false evidence of piscatorial skill reaches my desk via the Charles Swanner law office, sent by one Bruce Switzer, from Pittsburgh, Cal., whose physiognomy appears over a string of five strippers. In the explanatory note at the foot of the illustration, he substitutes his name for the expert who did catch the fish—CS, and then points with pride—and deception—to the remarkable catch. Aye, verily, and then there was another catch when Swanner detected the substitutions which made Switzer a disciple of Ananias. It only goes to prove that it is impossible to get a true fish story, whether it is for a magazine or just ordinary correspondence.

"When My Dream Ship Comes Home" won't be popular this year with the orange growers, but they expect the boat to come in next year with a full cargo of nice Valencia oranges 100 per cent O.K. by fluoroscopes, kaleidoscopes, packers, and the consuming public.

Soon be school vacation, and a lot of people will be glad of it besides the students. Faculty and teachers sort of fear the continuous grind and welcome the few months' relaxation. About the only ones I have found who greet the school grind again is mother, who accumulates a few more gray hairs during the vacation period, when the kiddies are home. The old home don't look like it did when school was in session.

Love for a dog placed a lady's life in jeopardy today. The canine became unfastened from the leash and ran across the street in front of a moving automobile. The lady ran at the same time, but the good work of the driver prevented a casualty.

Friend tells me about young lad who yielded to temptation, found out that crime does not pay, and is now trying to get out of the walls which restrict his liberty via the parole route. The case appears to have some extenuating circumstances. It is a pity that youth, with all of its hopes and opportunities yields to dishonest impulses. Especially pitiful in that the scar must remain so long. The commandment "thou shalt not steal" may be violated, but it always imposes a heavy penalty.

If the cool weather continues there will have to be a reform in bathing beach apparel. Suits will either have to be longer or the summer hotter.

Nice looking couple in new car and their faces shining like a shaft of sunlight into a cloudy corner—it being Friday—inquired of citizen location of the soap factory.

He thought they were in the wrong town or the soap factory should be in Santa Ana. Anyway, my friend regretted his inability to furnish the information and he asked me, and I also regretted, which is socially correct sometimes, but it's darn poor information.

But before they could be delivered, General MacArthur stepped in and called it an "outrage and robbery of the American taxpayer."

There were other army bids involving airplanes and trucks, all of which caused a terrific furore at the time, plus a congressional investigation. But when Roosevelt appointed Woodring secretary of war three years later, everyone had forgotten it. There was not a line about it in any newspaper.

The only thing Harry neglected to say was that his father owned the bank.

This explains young Woodring's meteoric rise to be president and chief of a bank at the age of 31. As the biographical sketches of our hero portray him selling popcorn in the streets, and working his way up from the lowly life of a poor farm boy.
